

NEW ON DVD

Check out
usmagazine.com /moviestvmusic
for reviews, news and more

Pattinson and Stewart's final film made $292 million.

The Twilight Saga Breaking Dawn — Part 2

★★★★☆

Bye-bye, bloodsuckers. After four cheesy flicks, the franchise bows out with a surprisingly engaging finale. In this go-round, Bella (Kristen Stewart) and Edward (Robert Pattinson) fight to save their half-mortal daughter from the Volturi, who believe she endangers the world's vampires. Packed with typically shoddy special effects, the movie is at least in on the joke: In one scene, abs-tastic Jacob (Taylor Lautner) slowly strips to his underwear before morphing into a werewolf. OMG! (Summit, $31)

BRADLEY JACOBS

Knightley can't resist Taylor-Johnson.

Anna Karenina

★★★☆☆

Keira Knightley fails to entice as an aristocrat torn between her staid doctor husband (Jude Law) and her dashing lover (Aaron Taylor-Johnson) in this adaptation of the 1877 novel. Despite fabulous costumes and set pieces, this drama is a beautiful bore. (Universal, $30)

MARA REINSTEIN

The Client List Season 1

★★★☆☆

Sexy time! Jennifer Love Hewitt plays a cash-strapped mom who becomes a spa masseuse (offering happy endings) after her husband bolts. Don't get too excited. Hewitt's emotive charms are wasted on the drama's witless story lines: a dead client? Really? (Sony, $46)

JOHN GRIFFITHS

Hewitt

KRISTEN STEWART

My Bella Memento

KRISTEN STEWART, 22, LOOKS back on Twilight — and toward her future!

Q: Did you keep any props? I kept [Bella's] rings. The rings are really important to me.

Q: What kinds of roles do you look for now?

I've played parts that are similar to me because I'm young. I wanted to explore things that were [closer] to me. Now I'm getting to the point that I want to dig a little deeper!

Stewart