

with the same fervor that she has employed against Mrs. Clinton, the Democratic Party front-runner.

"Women understood" that Mr. Trump's attack the day after the to bleeding that many people thought was an allusion to menstruation, was sexist, Mrs. Fiorina told a visibly squeamish Jake Tapper of CNN. "I've had lots of men imply that I was unfit for de-was having my period. So I'll say it, O.K?"

In a crowded Republican field, Mrs. Fiorina has delivered the most forceful and succinct denunciation of Mr. Trump's comments, which sent a shudder throughout the party concerned that it would reinforce perceptions that it was increasingly out of touch with female voters.

Now, many Republicans, preparing to potentially confront Mrs. Clinton in a general election,

Continued on Page A13

hat Way?
whether vidhorizontal is question. PAGE B1

um Wage
y tool for gaugminimum-
PAGE A3

0-14

After Punch
who hit Geno
Bills. PAGE B10

NATIONAL A9-14

Jimmy Carter Has Cancer

The former president said the disease was revealed by recent surgery on his liver and has spread. PAGE A12

It's a Girl, President Harding

Tests were said to confirm that Warren G. Harding fathered a child. PAGE A12

NATIONAL A9-14

Iran Is Focus of Phone Spying

The government used its domestic phone records program to find Iran operatives, a document shows. PAGE A14

Last Holdout on Adoption

Mississippi has been sued over its ban on same-sex adoption. PAGE A9

THURSDAY STYLES D1-8

Unwanted Summer Guests

Those lucky enough to get away in summer can't get away from ticks. PAGE D1

EDITORIAL, OP-ED A20-21

Nicholas Kristof

PAGE A21

ARTS C1-8

Letters and a Life Lost at Sea

The BalletX production of "Sunset, 0639 Hours" depicts a 1938 air crash. PAGE C2

